When I laid down my pen a month ago, I thought I had finished my book, and said good-bye to my readers. Since then, however, I have had so many questions put to me by people interested in emigration and anxious to obtain information about America, and the life and prospects of young colonists in our share of that country, that I am tempted to take up my pen again and say a word or two more for the benefit of those who either have already sent sons or capital to that country, or are thinking of doing so now. Unless a man insists on going about the world with his eyes shut, he must nowadays be struck with the number of young fellows of good family and education who are annually leaving our country to seek a competence elsewhere. You can...
