Createspace, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This volume is one of a series on the Men of the Bible, issued by the Messrs. Randolph Co., under an arrangement with the English publishers. It is a most admirable presentation, in a very brief and readable compass, of the best results of modern study of the great theme. On many pages an analysis of a whole subject will be found stated in the progressive phrases of a sentence. And the unity of the historical development is steadily held in view. The plan admits of but little discussion of disputed points; but on all the great questions of the authenticity of the Gospel of John, the substantial harmony of the four gospels, the divinity of Christ, miracles, prophecy, sacrifice, resurrection, and the gift of the Spirit, the Church views are sympathetically and firmly held. It is a little remarkable that a book on the Life of Christ can be written in which it is difficult to discover what is the precise view held by the author on the doctrine of the incarnation. There is no statement nor discussion of the subject as a theological question. We read, indeed, of a voluntary self inanition of God, the Divine became human, and emptied itself of its glory, that the human might be glorified into the Divine. But, at the same time, the Divine omniscience and prophetic foresight, the personal exercise of Divine power are clearly and without limitations ascribed to Christ. And, on the other hand, the permanence and identity of his human soul after the resurrection are distinctly asserted, and proved by the permanence of his human feelings. There is no break in the continuity of His affection....
